

The clients of La C were our first clients and in the last five years we have undertaken several projects for them. In fact, we are just about to commence another one (Jan 2009). Each year, after their summer holidays, they decide on the next project to advance the property towards their final goal. Its been a real pleasure being involved with this property and our clients.

The projects depicted in the photographs opposite were the complete refitting of the upper bathroom and the kitchen. As you will see, there was a reasonable amount of remedial work to undertake before either room could be fitted out. It was worth all the trouble as they look great now.

In these last two projects we were tested with our tiling skills as both floors and walls were anything but level. Not so now.

The real buzz for us is seeing the pleasure that our clients get when they see their property, for the first time, after we have completed our work and then as they become used to it and comfortable with it. Great.
