

This is the second chateau that we have been fortunate to have been involved with, but is our favourite. It just oozes history and you have the feeling that it wants to tell you its stories. This chateau, or more accurately, this fortified farm dates back to, at least the 100 years war. The oldest known records date back to 1479.

We were asked to undertake some of the earlier phases of this project and we have started with the usual re-flooring with an insulated concrete floors on the ground floor along with introducing the initial water and electrical services. We have been invited to take on further phases at a later date as and when the funding becomes available.

We look forward to this and also to seeing the building regaining its former splendour and class.
